Chapter 1 by Story Wars

The trail was covered in leaves. Every tree was bare except the evergreens. It was late October, but felt more like late summer. This part of North Georgia was beautiful this time of year. We skipped school and decided to check out the rumored evil Delphi ruins in the cursed valley down by the Toccoa River.

I doubt anyone at school would miss us and I'm sure I didn't care. We'd been planning for months to visit the ruins and finally, the time had arrived.

I'd been trying to convince myself there was nothing of which to be afraid, but had my doubts what I might discover. The area was well known to locals as the cursed valley and many elders in the community refused to talk about it and warned not to go snooping around.

I dismissed their warnings.

I pulled the truck onto the logging road and shut the engine off.

"Are you ready to do this shit?" said Jason. His voice filled with excitement. Jason always seemed a little too willing to do something crazy.

"Does a bear shit in the woods?" said Rob jokingly. We all laughed nervously at the task at hand.

The three of us stood at the edge of the forest uncertain of what we might discover but too proud and curious to turn back.

For some reason, I felt uneasy, but See more of Story Wars
